

DEFENSE SECURITY SERVICE

Work that truly matters.

The Department of Defense relies on the Defense Security Service (DSS) to clear the facilities, people and systems used to keep our nation safe.

The men and women of our organization keep the nation's most sensitive information secure, and you can help support our mission in one of six key positions:

- Counterintelligence (CI) Professionals
Keep sensitive and classified information and technologies out of the hands of our nation's adversaries.
- Foreign Ownership, Control or Influence (FOCI) Professionals
Identify, record, analyze and mitigate foreign investments in U.S. companies.
- Industrial Security Representatives (ISR)
Inspect and provide oversight to cleared industry.
- Information System Security Professionals (ISSP)
Play a major role in identifying potential threats and intrusions of Information Technology (IT) systems by our adversaries.
- Information Technology (IT) Professionals
Build information systems to support the DSS system
- Security Education, Training & Awareness (SETA) Professionals
Provide security education and training to DoD and other U.S. Government personnel, DoD contractors, and sponsored representatives of foreign governments.

In addition to our core mission we offer vast opportunities in our support functions to include: Acquisitions, Communications, Finance, Logistics, Human Resources, Legal, and Public Affairs.

Much of the work DSS does is a collaborative effort, so your ideas are our best assets.

Opportunities to succeed.

DSS is committed to your success. Our ongoing training is designed to support and enhance your skills throughout your career. Regardless of your career path, you will have opportunities for advancement to positions of increased responsibility or interest.
